You can ride... along the Beach

The San Clemente Beach Trail is unique. It's a rustic path with stunning coastal views and access to all our famous beaches.

Not a board-walk or promenade like other beach towns, this shared use trail was created by residents to preserve the "local" feel we love.

Views are gorgeous. But dog walkers, baby strollers, runners, and unconscious pedestrians abound. Round trip to the pier is only 2 miles, the snack bar at Califia just under 5 miles. You'll be tempted by surf and sand all along the way.

Pedestrians have the right of way. Please speak or "ding" politely and pass safely—and be ready to stop if they wander in front of you. Please walk your bike where posted.

North, to the harbor or historic San Juan

Dana Point Harbor

The ride is flat all the way to Doheny State Park, Dana Point Harbor, and the Ocean Institute.

Enjoy a snack or memorable lunch at Dana Point's many eateries, roll over to the marina or board the tall ship, Pilgrim.

Mission San Juan Capistrano For a longer adventure, take the San Juan Creek bike path from Doheny Beach to historic San Juan, about 7.5 miles. Explore 200 year old Los Rios district, enjoy shopping along El Camino Real, or entertain the kids at Zoomars Zoo. Then relax over lunch at the historic El Adobe Restaurant.

When your're ready to return hop aboard Metrolink and you and your bike are back at North Beach in just 9 minutes. The one-way the fare is only $6.

Los Angeles - by train and bicycle!

Consider an all-day journey to Los Angeles-- explore Olvera Street, Hollywood, and more via the Metro Red Line and a folding 7-speed Zig 7.

South, to Trestles, Oceanside, & beyond!

Tour de Oceanside

The Pacific Coast Bike

Route runs along residential streets on its way south. Traffic on the Route is light as you ride through town on your way to Trestles, our all-natural surfing beach at the mouth of San Mateo Creek. Roll on to San Onofre St. Park and the car-free bke route to Camp Pendleton. Enjoy lightly traveled 2-lane roads through the base. Explore Oceanside harbor and the pier before boarding for the 20 minute train trip back.

Or enjoy an all day adventure to San Diego's Old Town, or Coronado, we'll show you how.

Metrolink brings you and your bike back.

From Oceanside; one-way fare is approx. $7 (4 bikes per railcar). Ride Amtrak from San Diego, Old Town, Solana Beach, or Oceanside; fares range from approx. $11 to $19.00 (3 bikes per railcar).
